

Polishing off our first tapas in Sevilla

Cafe con leche. Excelente!

Crazy cellphone-bow-and-arrow-guy

Monster cathedral in Sevilla

There were a bunch of carriages in Sevilla.

Puerta de Jerez Fountain

The Rio Guadalquivir

Enjoying more Rioja in Sevilla.

Mint and chocolate sundaes

Right by the cathedral

Quiz: What is this object?

Movie art in Sevilla

UMA THURMAN
JOHN TRAVOLTA
PULP FICTION

Inside the huge cathedral

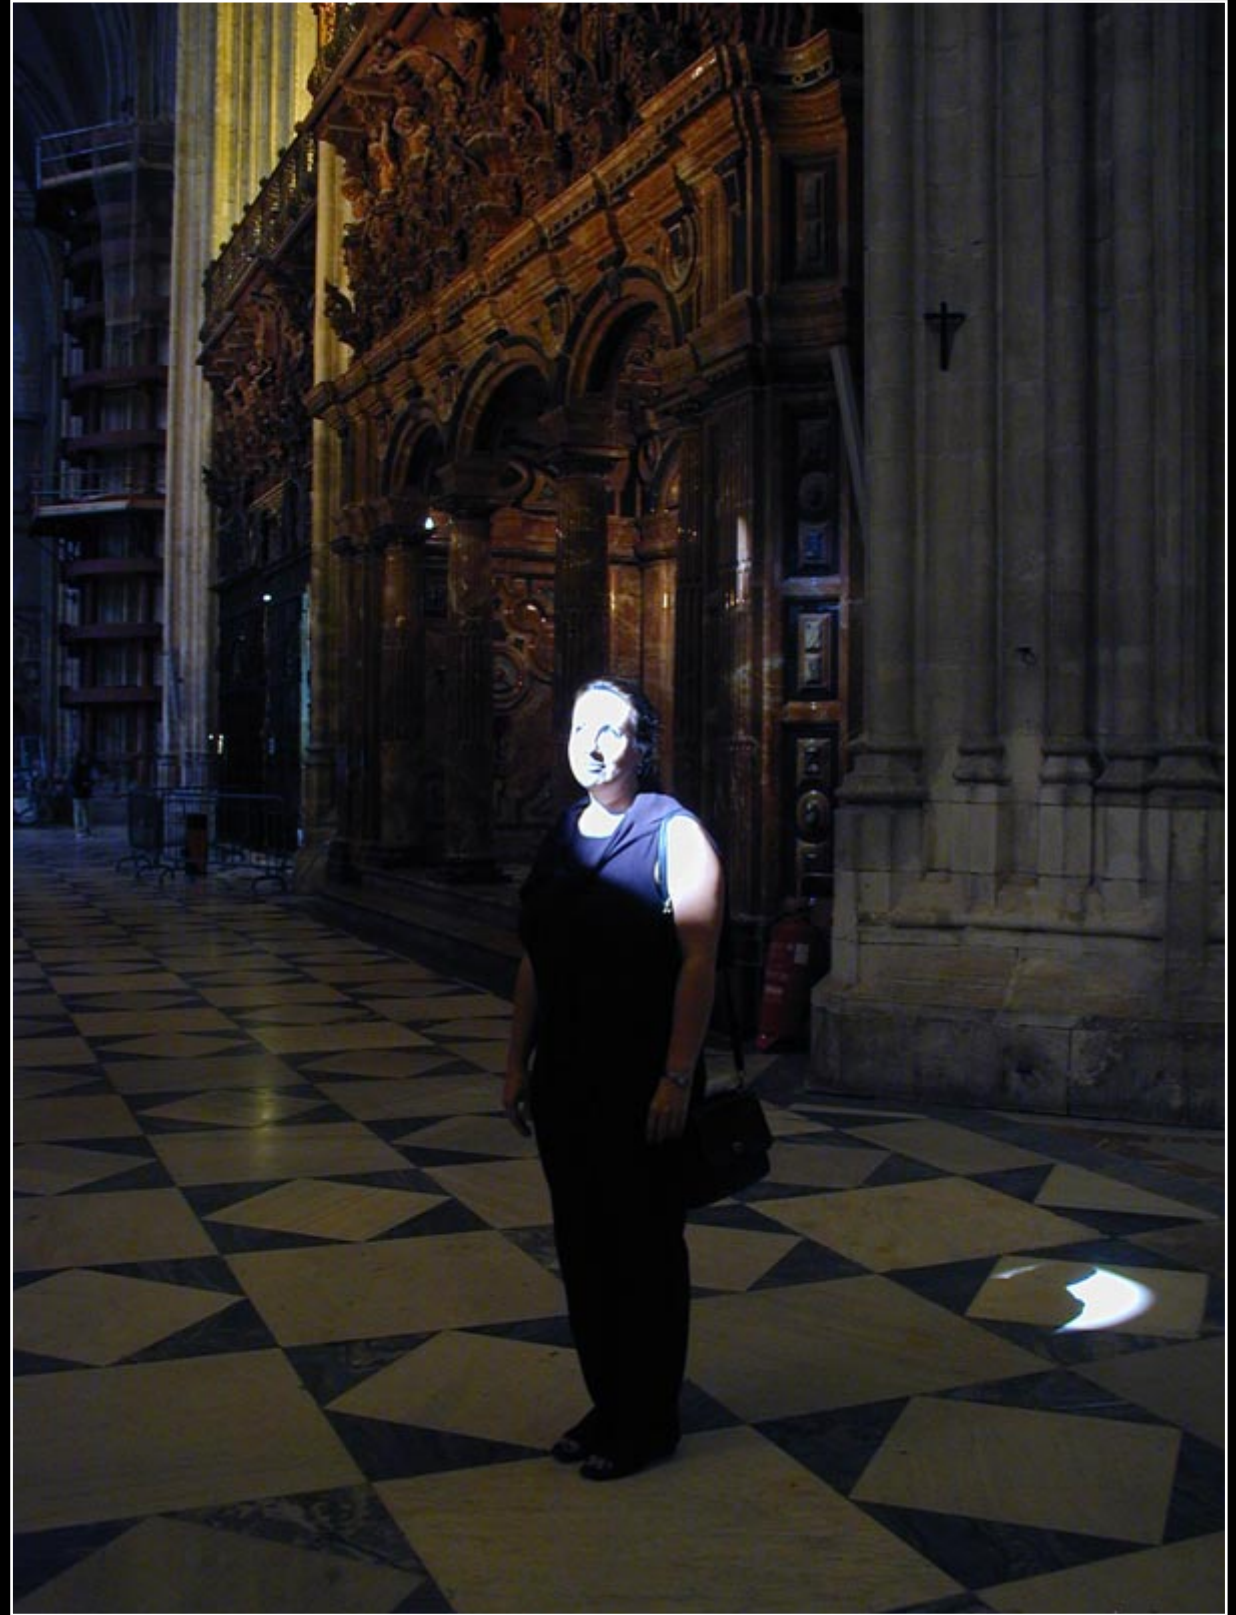

Dead bishop in the cathedral. Something happened to him in 1006

Penelope has seen the light!

Christopher Columbus is back there!

Wow! Huge waste of money!

View from the Giralda, an Arab tower updated by the Christians.

Lots of tower bells, which would ring like crazy at 9:05a.

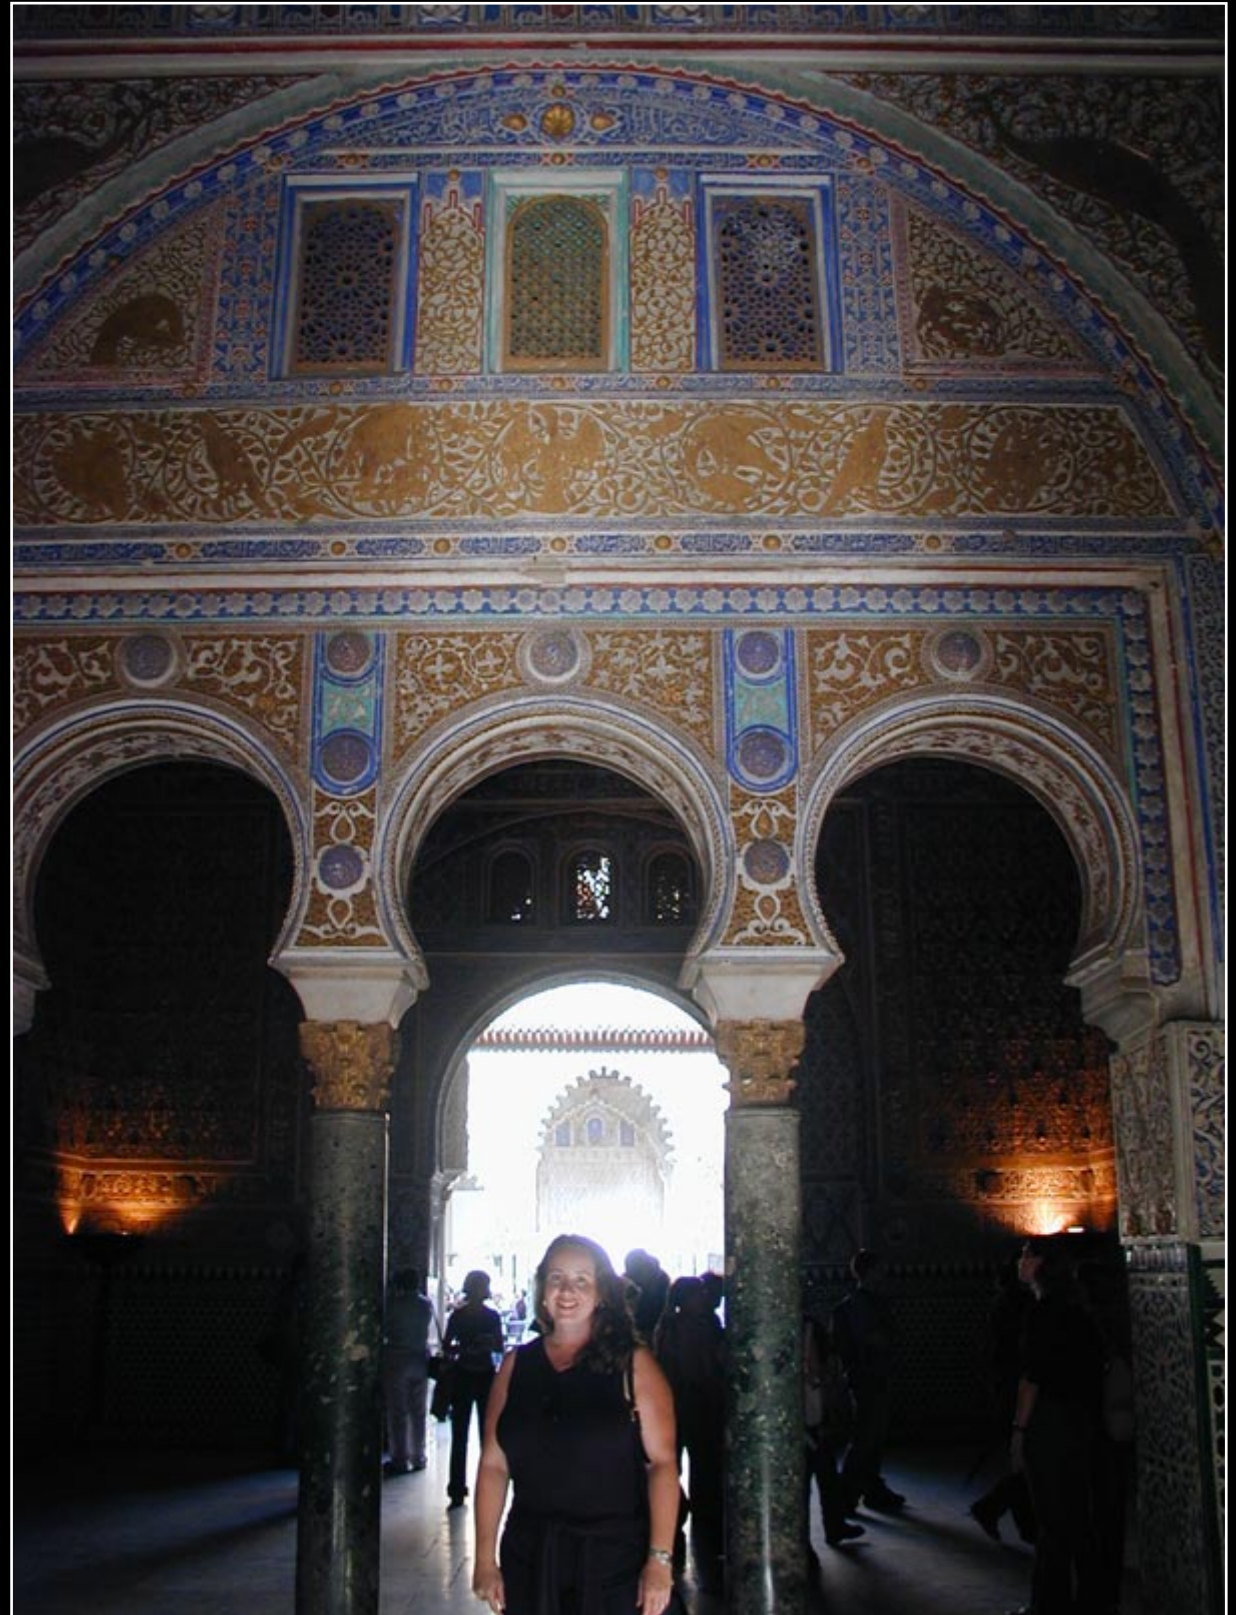

Inside the Alcazar Palace in Sevilla.

Moorish decoration in the Alcazar.

More Arab fountains. With lots of ducks this time.

The gardens are in stark contrast with the city of Sevilla.

Another fountain in Alcazar

Cruising from Sevilla to Madrid on the AVE train.

Oh, chips that tasted just like bacon. Amazing!

Madrid! By Neptune's fountain.

Lots of folks near Puerta del Sol in Madrid

Ham. Ham. Ham. They like their ham in Spain.

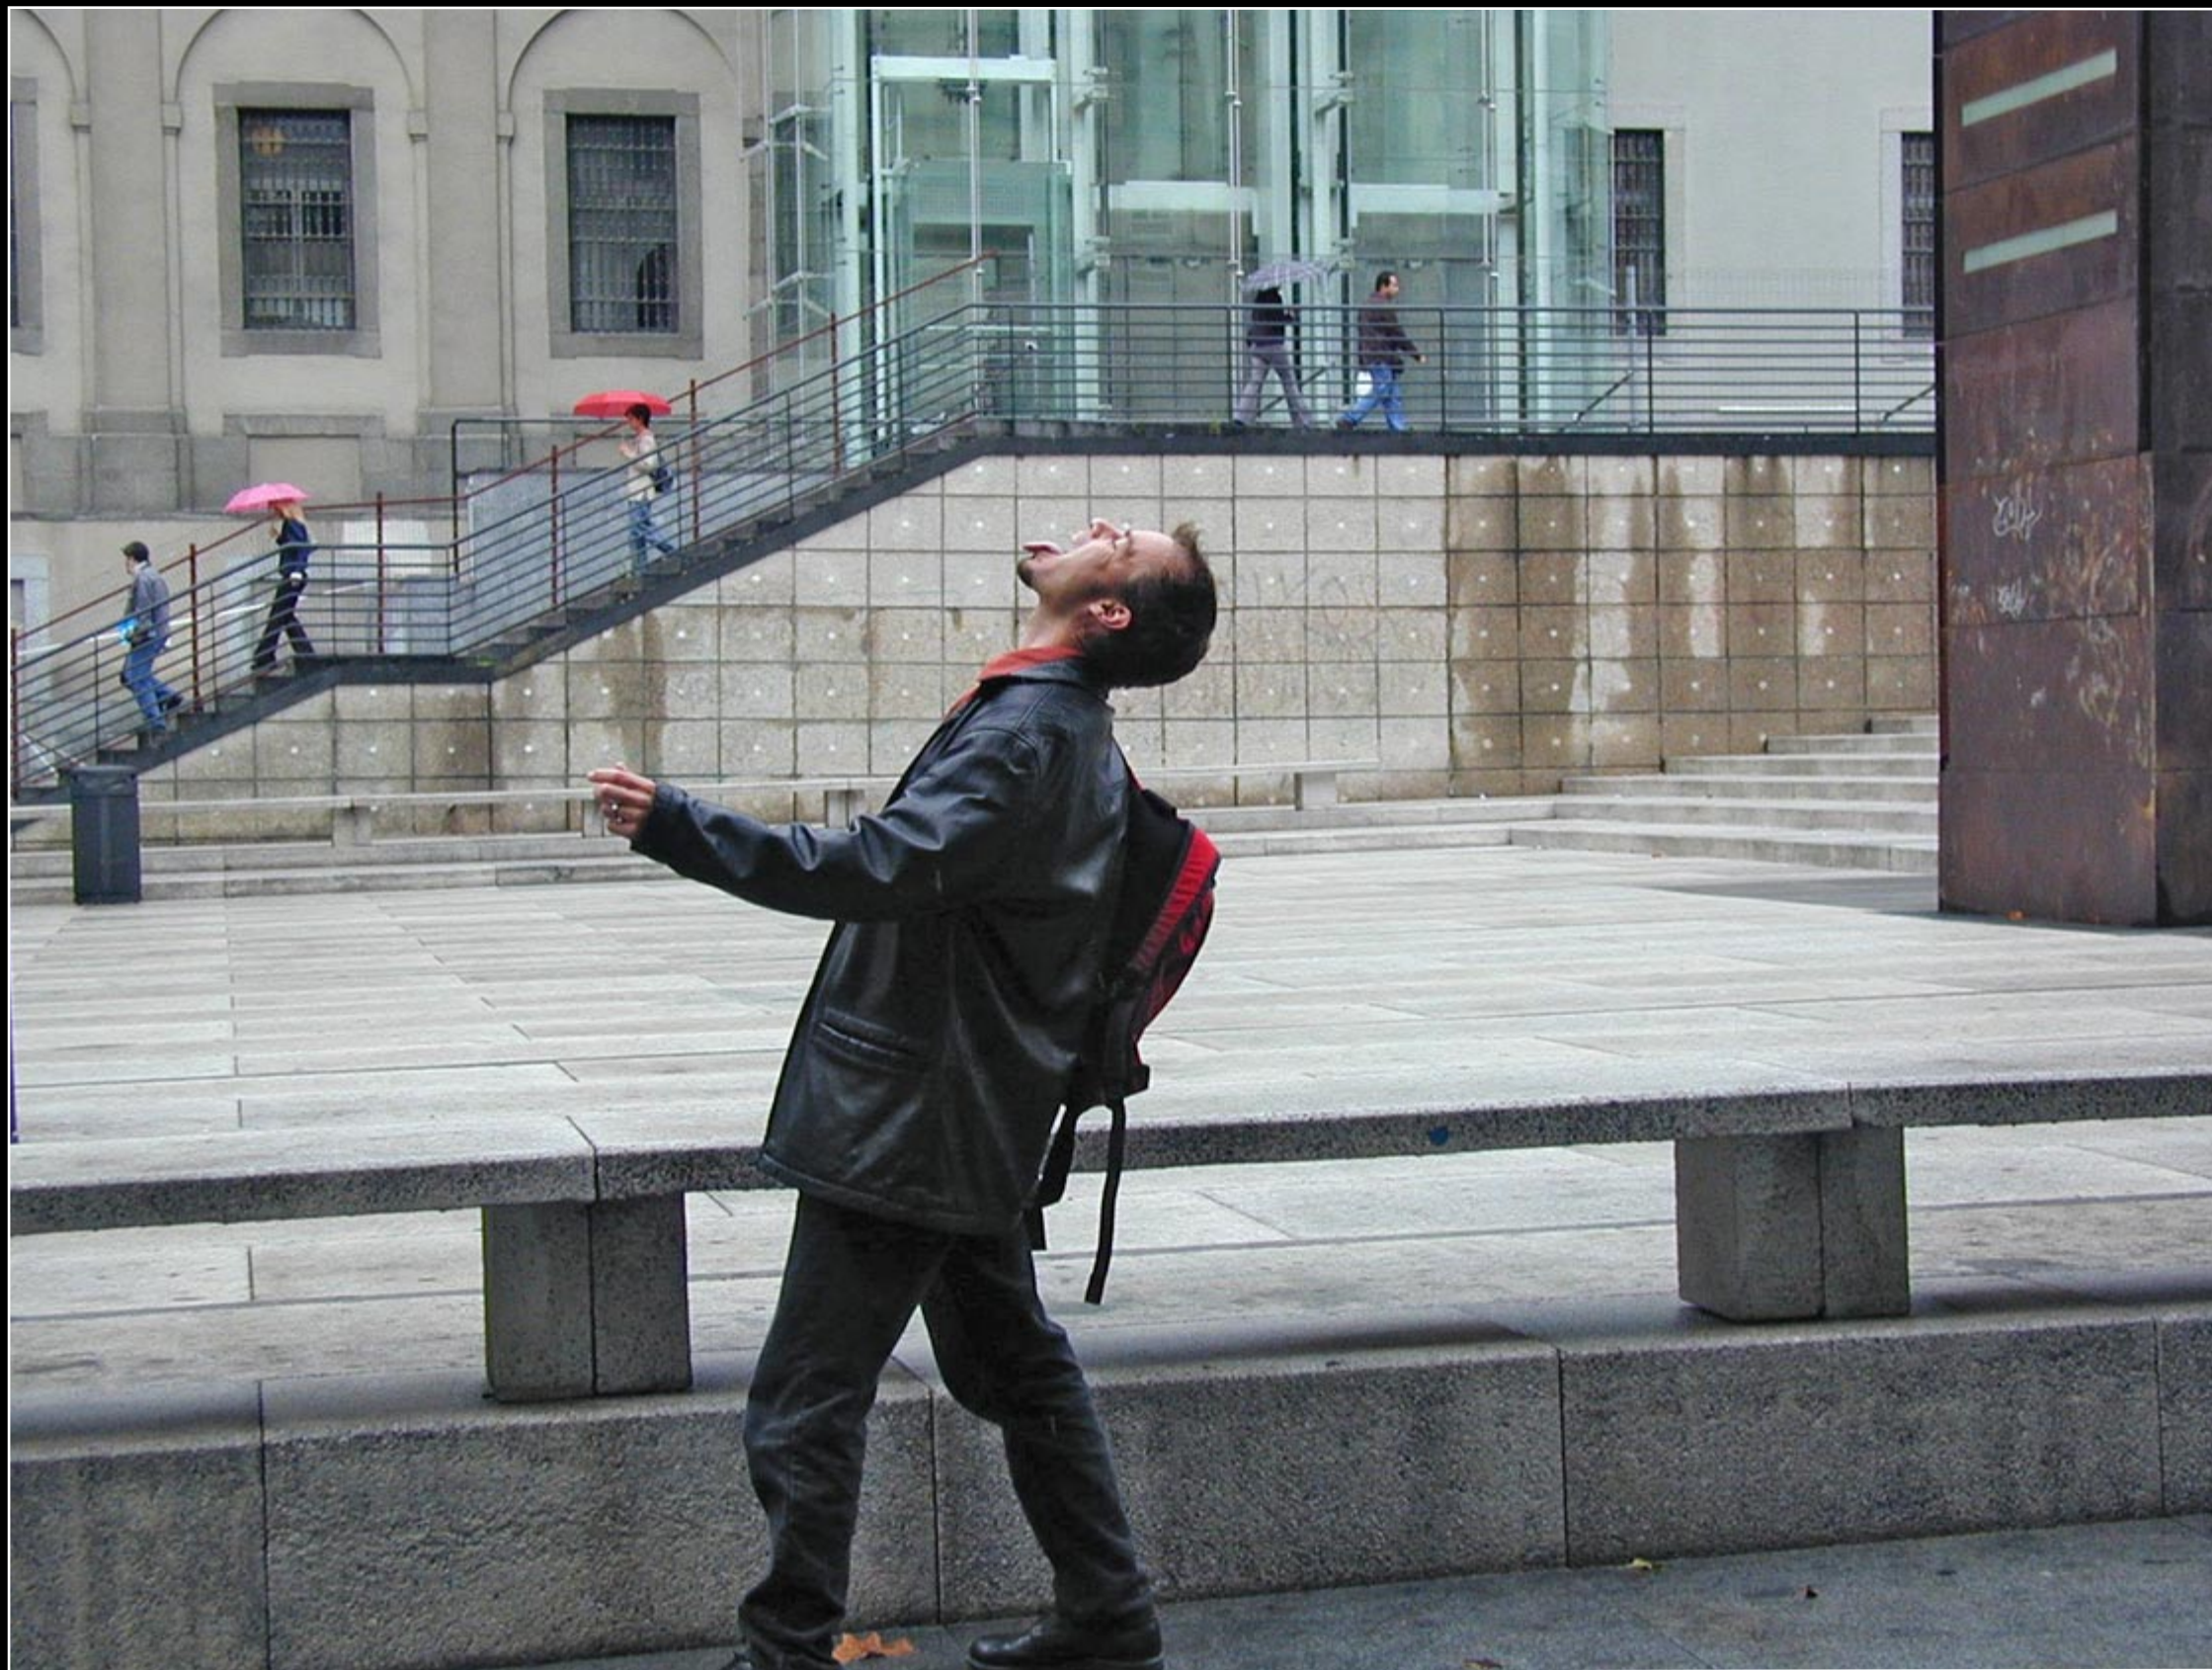

Mmmm. Greasy churros and chocolate.

And the accordion player. Not sure what that lady's deal is.

Picasso's Guernica is in the Reina Sofia museum.

The square below our hotel room in Madrid.

Cider! At Cidras Mingo. It goes well with the roast chicken.

Plaza Mayor in Madrid, the main square.

One of the walls in Plaza Mayor

